

Heaven In My Lap

Who got the star, that look little one?
Who removed the gloom from the night by the shepherds?
Who tied the crown to your hair now?
Wise, who led me to my beloved child?

You are like others, a child of promises.
Do you bring my children into the world of hope now?
You are a treasure of hearts, how do I protect you?
My hem carries itself from heaven?

Who brought tears to the eyes of the little one?
Why are you clinging to your mother now, trembling?
The shadows repeat it now, the angel is gone,
all beautiful I remember, though I can not understand.

You are like others, a child of promises.
Do you bring my children, now I hope for the world?
You are a treasure of hearts, how do I protect you?
My hem carries itself from heaven?

Here every day brings joy to heaven.
Gentleness, love in the eyes of the people.
The words I heard, they will never be forgotten,
no matter what comes, I will always get strength from them.

You are like others, a child of promises.
Do you bring my children, now I hope for the world?
You are a treasure of hearts, how do I protect you?
My hem carries itself from heaven?

Who got that little star from that star?
Above Bethlehem shines a star eternal.
